

~~NO~~ HOMEWORK BINGO

We are a no homework school but sometimes that can turn into "what can I do at home to help my child?" Here are some fun things you can do to practice skills at home!

<input type="checkbox"/> Use chalk to write 10 sight words on the sidewalk	<input type="checkbox"/> Write 10 sight words using your BEST handwriting	<input type="checkbox"/> Count by 10's as high as you can count	<input type="checkbox"/> Write and draw, giving information about a topic using 3 facts
<input type="checkbox"/> Read aloud a story and discuss why you think the author chose to write that story	<input type="checkbox"/> Graph your family's favorite colors. What color had the most? How many more? Least?	<input type="checkbox"/> Practice Freckle skills for 10 minutes	<input type="checkbox"/> Discuss the basic needs plants and animals need to survive
<input type="checkbox"/> Find words in a magazine that have blends fl, sl, gl, pl, bl, cl	<input type="checkbox"/> Find your shadow outside. What kinds of shapes can you make?	<input type="checkbox"/> Help cook dinner. Discuss how it is a healthy dinner	<input type="checkbox"/> Find words in a magazine that have blends cr, dr, fr, tr, gr, pr, br
<input type="checkbox"/> Which weighs more, you or a pumpkin? How could you find out?	<input type="checkbox"/> Write someone a kind note. Then give or send to someone special	<input type="checkbox"/> Make popcorn. Use the popcorn to show an addition and subtraction equation	<input type="checkbox"/> Invent your own animal and design a habitat for your animal
<input type="checkbox"/> Add 2 digits together and show on a number line how to find the sum	<input type="checkbox"/> Collect your stuffed animals. Read them a bedtime story	<input type="checkbox"/> Discuss how you can be a thinker like George Washington Carver	<input type="checkbox"/> Help plan tomorrow's family dinner. Write the menu